FARM FOR SALE.

The subscriber offers for sale his well known HOMESTEAD, situated in Hampden 2½ miles from this city. This is one of the finest locations in the State, both for beauty of prospect and profit in farming. The farm contains from 90 to 100 acres, divided into woodland, pasturage, tillage and grass land; is in good condition, and as it has a variety of soil is well adapted to a mixed system of agriculture; and also having some of the earliest land on the River, it is especially fitted for raising early produce, which being so near market is one of the most profitable branches of farming.

This place is one of the few that have never been sold since the original purchase, but circumstances making it expedient, it is now offered for sale.

Despatches to the Evening Times.

Later from South America—Particulars of The Bombardment of Valparaiso.

New York May 9.

The Herald's special Washington despatch says:

There is no longer any room to doubt that the President will veto the Colorado bill

An examination of the Merchant's National Bank failure has been going on for the past two days.

A military commission is also investigating the conduct of Major Paulding.

It is rumored in military circles that an order will soon be issued, discharging all volunteers, general officers. Most of these officers hold commissions in the regular army, and will only be reduced to subordinate positions.

The Times' special Washington despatch says:

Secretary McCulloch's conversation with Jeff Davis at Fortress Monroe, was only on general topics, and of no general interest to the public.

Davis is not enjoying very good health.

The government has finally determined to hold the gold claimed by the Richmond banks. It clearly belongs to the confederacy.

The Tribune's special Washington despatch says:

A Council is to be held with the Indians of the plains at Fort Laramie, to make a treaty. It will be attended by about 20,000 Indians.

The Senate special committee have asked the opinion of the Postmaster General upon the proposition to connect the present telegraph system with the postal system. He is now engaged writing a report on the subject.

The Senate committee have unanimously agreed to report Gen. Sickles as Minister to the Hague, but Gen. Sickles has notified the Secretary of State of his declination. He desires to return to his present command, and the Secretary of War and Gen. Grant both have notified him that he could do so.

The investigation of the Provost Marshals Bureau has not been dropped, but is going on with closed doors.

New York, May 9.

Steamer New York, from Aspinwall 20th has arrived, bringing California mails of the 19th ult.

Panama arrivals state that the news from the South is unimportant, matters having remained perfectly quiet since the bombardment of Valparaiso.

All the Spanish fleet, except one, had sailed for northern ports. Nothing had been heard of the Huascar or Independira, and the Peruvian sloops Union and American had sailed towards the straits to meet them.

The Danish Consul General sent a note to the Spanish Admiral, saying his government would hold Spain responsible for the damage done to Danish property in Valparaiso. The Admiral refused to receive his note.

The bark Clara Rosalie had been burned by the officers of the Berenguela.

Immediately after the bombardment of Valparaiso, the English Minister was requested to vacate the premises occupied by him, and no one will rent him another house. His name was also stricken from the list of members of the Club de la Union Only two lives were lost and eight wounded Several churches were destroyed, and 151 government stores valued at $500,000, and containing upwards of $8,000,000 worth of foreign merchandise. $545,000 will repair all damages to public edifices, while the bulk of the loss will fall on foreigners

At Callao preparations were actively making for the reception of the Spanish fleet by the fortifications.

Intelligence from Bareacoss mines continue unfavorable, most of the miners being sick and discouraged at the prospects.

Gen. Mosquora, the new President of New Grenada, is on his way to Aspinwall in the Columbian war steamer Columbus, the first the government ever owned. It is expected he will inaugurate measures for better order in Aspinwall.

It is thought the capital will be removed from Bogota to Panama.

It is reported the Hamburg brig Sirius, bound from Aspinwall to Santa Martha, was wrecked on Riconardo Reef.

Much complaint is made at the detention of goods from Europe and the States to Panama by the Panama Railroad Superintendent.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A FAIR WHEAT CROP. The St. Paul Press gives statistics of the wheat crop of Minnesta, and remarks that the average wheat yield of townships fluctuates from twenty to twenty-eight bushel per acre, although there are many instances of individual yields above thirty bushels, and even as high as forty-five bushels per acre. The world is challenged to beat these yields. To comprehend the full bearing of these figures upon the superiority of Minnesota as a wheat producing State, the Press gives figures to show the product in other States, as follows:—"The greatest known yield of Ohio was in 1850, when it was seventeen bushels to the acre. Illinois does not average from year to year more than eight bushels, and was never known to exceed sixteen. The highest yield of Iowa is fourteen and a quarter bushels. Michigan in 1848 produced nineteen bushels per acre. A wheat field yielding over twenty bushels per acre is so rare as to be an object of wonder out of Minnesota and California; but in Minnesota it is considered a bad crop which does not yield over twenty bushels per acre, whereas individual crops of thirty to thirty-five bushels, and even forty-five bushels to the acre, are more frequent than crops of twenty bushels per acre in Illinois, Iowa, Ohio, or any other of the great central States."

LYNCH LAW IN ILLINOIS. A letter in the Alton Democrat gives particulars of the hanging of five men by the people of Jersey county, Illinois, for horse stealing. The slack administration of justice against this class of offenders, and the persistent refusal of grand juries to indict them, appears to have infuriated the people and determined them to take the matter into their own hands. The opportunity arrived, and was employed most effectively. The citizens declare that they have not yet finished, but that there are three more men who must be killed. There appears to have been no effort on the part of the authorities to arrest the bloody undertaking.

THE CAMPAIGNS AGAINST RICHMOND.—Swinton's history of the army of the Potomac discloses the fact, not hitherto made public, that Gen. Grant at first decidedly opposed the plan of an overland march to Richmond, and strongly urged a movement from the south side of the James river. If he had firmly adhered to this opinion, he might have had his own way, and so avoided the delay and loss of the terrible march through Virginia; but he allowed himself to be overruled. It now appears, after all the controversy on the subject, that the best military authorities all favored the approach to Richmond by way of James river.

A GENERAL INSURANCE LAW. A memorial has been sent to Congress asking for the passage of a general insurance law, to empower companies to deposit with the United States Treasurer government bonds covering the extent of their obligations or amount of capital, in order to secure the insurance, as in the case of national banking incorporations. It is claimed that the operation of such a law would give to the really solvent companies the public confidence to which they are entitled.

IMMIGRATION FROM EUROPE. Within the last month, ending April 30, there arrived at New York from Europe, twenty thousand four hundred and seventy-eight emigrants. Ten thousand six hundred of these came from Liverpool, and nearly seven thousand from the ports of Bremen and Hamburg. The first were mostly Irish, and the latter were Germans. Twenty-eight steamships and twenty-eight sailing vessels were employed in conveying these emigrants from Europe.

THE DEAD AT COLD HARBOR. Intelligence to the War Department states that the National Cemetery at Cold Harbor, Va., was completed on the 1st of May, and dedicated by a formal raising of the Stars and Stripes on the staff in the centre of the ground, and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by those present. The total number of bodies interred is 1930—50 commissioned officers and chaplains, 89 non-commissioned officers, 645 privates, besides 1246 bodies not yet identified.

EPISCOPAL BISHOPS VISIT THE POPE.—On the 6th of April both the Right Reverends Dr Whitehouse of Illinois, and Stevens of Pennsylvania, were in Rome, and receiving marked attentions. They had been presented, by a special and private appointment, to the Pope, with permission to take their families.

An Appeal for the Starving.

Judge Wyeth of Marshall County, Ala. has appealed to the citizens of Cincinnati in behalf of the people of his State. He says:

I have come here to plead with you for the suffering, starving people of North Alabama. The are literally starving—helpless women and children and infirm men are suffering for the want of bread.

The facts are so terrible that they can scarcely be believed, and I feel that the greatest difficulty that I shall have to encounter will be the doubts that will suggest themselves in regard to the truth of my statements.

The Hon. W. T. May, Judge of the Probate Court of Marshall County, in a certificate to the truthfulness of this statement, says he has carefully investigated the condition of the people in his County, and finds that there are 2,180 women, children and infirm men; and of persons who are able to work, but have no means to purchase supplies for carrying on farming operations, there are families embracing 2,000 persons, white and black. Of the residue of the population, not 20 have means more than adequate to their wants.

Gov. Patton of Alabama writes:

I have long known Judge Wyeth as a respectable member of the bar, and Christian gentleman, in whom the utmost confidence may be reposed. What he says in regard to the destitute poor of the mountain counties of North Alabama may be strictly relied on.

Many of these people have planted small crops, but are utterly without the means to sustain life until their vegetables and grain mature. The destitution includes all classes, families of rebel soldiers, loyalists, white and black. Judge Wyeth makes his appeal without distinction. "In the name of God and our common humanity, I beg for bread for my starving people."

The Memphis Post, a loyal journal, publishes this appeal in full, with the following comments:

A terrible reproach and a crime lies at the door of the people of Memphis that they allow here, within the circle of their own mercantile influence, thousands of poor Southern women and children to literally starve to death, without one effort to lend a helping hand. If a call is made to raise money for the erection of a church, with mural tablets and painted windows to the honor and glory of those who fell fighting against their country's flag, money is freely given, but their starving fellow-citizens of the same Southern blood as themselves are compelled to rely for relief from starvation and death upon those Northern vandals whom they so earnestly vilify and defame.

The Memphis Argus, a rebel sheet, disclaims for the Southern people any obligation to give relief to these starving people, and calls on the "Radicals" to come to their relief. The Argus says:

The people reported to be starving are themselves the political brethren of these very Radicals. And it so happens, too, that all this starvation and destitution was bro't upon the country by the fanatical agitation of the very political organization to which both the "Unionists" (so called) of North Alabama and the Radicals belong; and it is to them that their starving brethren naturally look for their best and largest help. Let 'em shell out.

The alleged offense of these starving people is that they were loyal to the Union; therefore, let them die, say the reconstructed.

In the same journal we find the following:

A grand ball will be given at the Gayoso House on the evening of the 2d of May, for the benefit of the maimed soldiers of the armies of the Confederate States. This noble project deserves every encouragement from our citizens, and will not fail to prove a grand success.

Let those who believe that guarantees are not necessary for the protection of loyal citizens of the South mark this invidious distinction.

The Freed People of South Carolina.

Mr. R. Romlinson, the State Superintendent of Education in South Carolina, reports 7998 pupils, of whom 6448 can read and spell. They have one hundred and thirty-six teachers, of whom ninety-five are from the North; thirty-one are sent out by the American Missionary Association, thirty-four by the New England Freedmen's Association, thirty-seven by the National Freedmen's Relief Association.

Rev. F. L. Cardoza, principal of the Saxton school in Charleston, says he has two hundred scholars in the second book of geography, and as many in the third.

Many who did not know notation last October, or could not make figures, are now in addition and multiplication, while many who were then in division are now in fractions. Our first classes, numbering one hundred—thirty boys and seventy girls—will be prepared to become primary teachers at the end of this term. They are now studying grammar, reading, geography and arithmetic, and are well advanced."

Several Confederate barracks, given by the Government, are being rapidly turned into school-houses at the following places, namely, Darlington, Kingstree, Florence and Summerville. At Marion, Darlington and Camden schools are already in operation. The want is of books.

—The Richmond Times demands that the same honors shall be paid to the rebel dead as are conferred upon the Union soldiers, and speaks of Jeff. Davis as the unhappy statesman. Thoroughly reconstructed.

RIOTS IN MEMPHIS. A special dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette, dated May 4th, states that the negro riots in Memphis are ended, the excitement subsiding and the negroes leaving the city. The city press is very severe in its condemnation of the incendiarism, and attributes it to the antipathy existing between the Irishmen and the negroes, and denies that it was premeditated by the latter class. The Post, a radical paper, severely denounces the fiendish spirit which culminated in the burning of houses over helpless and innocent negroes. The report that Gen. Stoneman had authorized the reorganization of the 164th Tennessee rebel regiment is unfounded. The city is still under martial law.

A correspondent of the Gazette, writing from Nashville, states that the affair was a savage outrage on the blacks, numbers of whom were murdered without provocation and only to gratify the barbarous passions of the mob. It now appears that the negroes did not commence the disturbance. It originated in an assault of the Police upon some discharged colored soldiers who were making a noise, but not injuring or molesting any one.

Boston, say what you please about its puritanism or anything of the kind, is a noble city, and its institutions are an honor to the people and the place. It is asserted that you can say of Boston what cannot be said of any other city of a population of 200,000 people on the globe. The taxable valuation of Boston in 1865 was—real estate $201,628,900, personal property $170,263,875, total $371,892,775. The real estate is probably $450,000,000. But, say it is $400,000,000; this would give to every man, woman and child $2000; and if the wealth of the city was invested in 7-30 bonds, each person in the city would receive per annum, of interest money, $146, or 40 cents per day.—Divide the population into 40,000 families of five persons each, and they would receive $2 per day. Is there any other city where wealth, if distributed per capita, would be as large?

MAJ GEN. WILLIAMS. The New York Nation of a recent date, pays the following just and graceful tribute to the memory of Maj. General Seth Williams, lately deceased, a native and former resident of Augusta:—"The name of no man attaining equal rank came less before the public during the war, than that of Maj. Gen. Seth Williams, but the memory of none, who have yet to die will be held more sacred by soldiers than his. Painfully diffident of his own merits, shrinking from note, modest as a girl, in all duty he was great, comprehensive, resolute, and untiring. There is a poetic consistency in the circumstances of his death, and it is none the less to be recorded because so few are aware of it, and because he himself was unconscious of it, that he gave his life for liberty and his country."

WASHINGTON, May 8.

The Republican of this morning has the following editorial article on the views of the Cabinet, which agrees with the opinions of those best likely to know, although one or two correspondents have endeavored to represent Mr. Stanton as opposed to the President's policy:

As there appears to be a disposition on the part of some of the leading presses of the country to doubt the truthfulness of the published statements of expressed opinion of the different members of the Cabinet on the subject of the Congressional plan of reconstruction recently reported, we will state that the authority or the publication was of the highest source. The chief among the doubters appear to be the friends of Secretaries Stanton and Harlan. That the former was quite as unequivocal in his position against the Congressional programme as any member of the Cabinet, we have no doubt. While it is true that Secretary Harlan was reticent in the meeting proper of the Cabinet, we presume it is no secret that before leaving the Cabinet chamber he freely expressed himself as being strongly on the side of the position taken by Secretaries Seward and Stanton.

The Chicago Post, speaking of the fact that the Freedmen's Bureau in Alabama, during the past three months issued 34,455 rations to destitute white persons, and 14,263 to the negroes, suggests that it is turning out that the term Freedmen's Bureau is a misnomer—it should be a Poor White's Bureau.

Dr. B. C. Perry, who has made diseases of the skin a speciality, has discovered a remedy for these discolorations, which is at once prompt, infallible and harmless.

An Invaluable Spring Medicine. DR. J. W. POLAND'S HUMOR DOCTOR.

This excellent medicinal remedy was first prepared by Dr. P. in 1847, and was then employed with great success in expelling humors from the blood; but in 1848, a medical friend, who was quite celebrated as a physician, especially in the treatment of humors, suggested some important improvements, which were adopted, and which have made it (so the people say,) the very best remedy for all kinds of humors known to "the faculty." This preparation is composed wholly of vegetables, among which are Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Burdock, Noble Pine, Mandrake, Senna and Bloodroot. Suffice it to say, the "Doctor" is used in hundreds of families as a general medicine. Unlike many other popular remedies, it is very grateful to the taste.

Important to Masters and Owners of Vessels.

HOWE'S Patent Port Closers.

THE undersigned begs leave to call the attention of Masters and Owners of vessels, to his improved method of fastening and closing the ports of vessels. By use of these the difficulties of the old method are entirely obviated. They are easy of application, impossible to get out of order, galvanized to avoid rust, and a sure and strong fastening—and will last as long as the vessel will. They can be applied in ten minutes, securing the port more perfectly than can be done by the usual method in one hour, and avoiding all casualties occasioned by rotting of rope, &c.

For sale at White & Foster's, Robt. Treat & Co.'s, Bowen & Johnson, Exchange St., and at my shop on Harlow St., or at Messrs Oakes & Doane's ship yard in Brewer. JOEL A. HOWE.

General O. S. Terry Nominated as U. S. Senator from Connecticut.

[Special Despatch to the Daily Whig.]

BOSTON, May 9.

The bill loaning the credit of Massachusetts to the European & North American Railway for fifteen thousand dollars per mile from Wian to the eastern boundary of Maine, passed the Senate by a vote of twenty-three to ten. It goes to the House to-morrow.

WASHINGTON, May, 9.

The President to-day gave audience to a committee of the General Conference of the Methodist Church, now in session in Georgetown. North Carolina, Alabama, Virginia, Maryland, and the District of Columbia only were represented. Those appointed from other Southern States had not means to pay expenses to travel hither. The presiding officer of the Conference introduced the delegates severally, to the President, requesting that they had by resolution unanimously adopted to come to pay their respects to him. In alluding to the fierce ordeal through which the Southern people had passed, he said he need not remind the President of the difficulties which environed them, and the poverty which they were now suffering. He prayed that the blessing of Almighty God might rest upon the President, and that the Lord would give him resources wisdom and strength to perform his duties. To this the brethren responded—"Amen."

The President thanked the delegates sincerely for the compliment paid him, and for the visit; he trusted the prayer they had offered would be heard and answered by Him to whom it was addressed, and that the honest efforts of the conference would be crowned with success. He hoped the day is not distant when peace and prosperity shall be restored to an undivided country. Official reports of the Assistant Commissioners of the Freedmen's Bureau to the Commissioner, now being received for April show continued improvement in the the relations between white and black race in the States recently in rebellion. The freedmen seem to be gaining more correct notions of their responsibilities, as well as privileges, while they conduct themselves inoffensively the whites are becoming more disposed to treat them civilly and deal justly with them.

Jeffersonville, Ind., is announced as the principal depot of the Quartermaster's Department, in place of City Point, Va., discontinued.

Capt. R. C. Rutherford, Acting Quartermaster, has been placed in charge of the depot.

The President ordered warrants of pardon to be issued to nine persons to-day, two from Louisiana, four from Mississippi, one from Georgia, one from Alabama, and one from Tennessee.

Thirty-Ninth Congress.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, May 9.

Senate.

The bill regulating transportation of nitro glycerine was referred to the committee on commerce.

A bill was introduced to regulate appointments to and removals from office, and ordered to be printed.

It provides that no person appointed to civil offices by the President and confirmed by the Senate shall be removable by the President, unless the same is consented to by the Senate; provided that members of the Cabinet may at any time be removed without the consent of the Senate. If the fixed term of any officer, however, expires, during the recess of the Senate, the President may appoint a successor, who shall hold office until the end of the next succeeding session of the Senate, unless sooner superseded. Officers whose appointments have been confirmed by the President or Heads of Departments alone may be removed at any time by the same. The President is authorized to temporarily suspend during the recess by the advice of the Attorney General any incompetent, corrupt or dishonest office holder, and appoint his successor, to hold office until 30 days after the commencement of the next session of the Senate, the fact to be laid before the Senate within 10 days after such commencement the Senate to exercise the power of confirming or rejecting such suspension and appointments.

No suspended officer is to receive compensation during suspension. In case of reappointments by the President which the Senate rejects, or on which it refuses or neglects to take action, such office shall be vacant and his salary allowed. No person rejected by the Senate shall be again appointed by the President during the recess, nor shall the President appoint any person to fill a vacancy happening during the recess, by death, resignation, expiration of term or otherwise not dependant on will or action.

Five thousand copies of the Smithsonian report was ordered to be printed.

The finance committee reported upon the expediency of providing by law that all public officers shall deposit government funds in the U. S. Sub-Treasury.

The bill to prevent the introduction of cholera was taken up.

Mr Raymond opposed the third section of the bill, but opposed the two first sections.

Mr Grimes, from the naval committee, reported with an amendment the bill to provide for the better organization of the pay department of the navy.

Mr Morrill, from the committee on the District of Columbia, reported a bill repealing the city charters of Washington and Georgetown, and providing for their government by commissioners.

Mr. Grimes, from the Naval Committee, reported a bill to restore Commander Chas. Hunter to his former rank in the Navy.—Commander Hunter captured a blockade runner on the coast of Cuba, at which the Spanish Government took offense, and he was dismissed. The bill was passed.

The Post Office Appropriation bill was taken up, the pending question being on Mr Trumbull's amendment, before reported.

Mr Wilson made a speech, eulogizing the Republican party, and condemning the reconstruction policy of the President.

Mr Doolittle, in a brief speech, reviewed the relations of the President to the Union party, alleging that he was adhering to the Baltimore Platform, upon which he was elected.

Mr Nye made some remarks condemnatory of the President's exercise of the pardoning power in the case of rebels.

Without action the Senate adjourned.

House.

The reconstruction amendment to the constitution was considered.

Mr Broomall supported it, and said so far from treason being made odious, it was a most popular institution at the South, and loyalty had been made odious.

Mr Shankland opposed it. He said if the people of the rebellious States submitted to the terms sought to be imposed upon them they ought not to come back into the Union as free American citizens. They had been overcome by numbers, not by superiority in wisdom or bravery. They had been defeated, but they believed they were then right.

Mr Raymond expressed approval of the measure, except the third section. He also alluded to the eagerness with which Mr Stevens acceded to the suggestion of the name of Gen. Grant as candidate of the Union party in 1868 for the Presidency, as giving assurance that there would be no dissent in the party on that subject when the right time should come.

Mr Eldridge spoke against the joint resolution and denounced the reconstruction committee as having entirely disappointed the country.

Mr McKee supported the measure. He proposed to amend Mr Garfield's motion to recommit with instructions to strike out the third section and insert the following:

"All persons who voluntarily adhered to the late insurrection, giving aid and comfort to the so called Confederate States are forever excluded from holding any office of trust or profit under the government of the United States."

Mr Boutwell denounced the democratic party, whose position every traitor in the South, and every sympathizer with treason in the the North sustained, and in this hour of National peril, it was their sad misfortune to be compelled to admit that. Mr. Boutwell supported the measure before the House.

Messrs Spaulding, Miller, Eliot and Shellabarger spoke in favor of the resolution.

Mr Stevens gave notice that at three o'clk to-morrow afternoon he would move the previous question and ask a vote on the resolution.

Several bills were introduced, including one concerning the elective franchise in the territories, and the admission of new States, and one to increase the pensions of disabled officers in volunteer service. Referred.

The House then took a recess until 7,30 p. m.

The tax bill was considered until 10 o'clk, when, having disposed of 16 pages, the committee rose and the House adjourned.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

—Services at Hammond Street Church this (Thursday) afternoon, at two o'clock, and in the evening at half past 7 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. U. Parsons.

—Potatoes sold for $1,12 per bushel in the market yesterday morning.

—Thanks to Penobscot River Express for late Boston papers.

—Horse, carriage and harnesses, in West Market Square, at ten o'clock this forenoon, at auction.

The Pearson House, on Ohio Street, at 3 o'clock P. M. on the premises. This property is desirable, and cannot fail to make a ready sale. See advertisements.

—Quite a smart rain prevailed in this vicinity yesterday, doing much good. We should be pleased to receive a little more of the same sort as soon as convenient.

E & N. A. RAILROAD. A despatch in another column gives the satisfactory intelligence that the Massachusetts Senate has passed the bill granting a loan of fifteen thousand dollars per mile to a road from Winn to the Boundary line. The vote was quite decisive, twenty-three to ten, and is probably indicative of the result in the House, where it will be up to-morrow.

Thus far Massachusetts has shown a liberality creditable alike to their business judgment and their neighborly feeling. With this aid there is little doubt but that the project will be successful.

Once started, it will give an impetus to business in New England, and more especially to that portion of New England in this immediate vicinity.

EAST MAINE CONFERENCE SEMINARY, BUCKSPORT. The Annual Examination and Anniversary Exercises of this flourishing institution occurred last week, beginning Monday and closing on Thursday evening with General Chamberlain's lecture on "Gettysburg." A large number of visitors were present at the exercises, which were of a grade perceptibly higher than in former years. With but a single variation, the programme as printed was carried out. Dr. Tefft pronounced a lecture entitled, "Our Dwelling Place," instead of the one announced. The public exercises were held in the M E Church, and were highly interesting. Kingsley Andrews, of West Lubec, received the prize for best declamation on Wednesday, and at the exhibition on Thursday, two prizes were awarded to Miss Ella A. Tuck, of Buckaport—one for her essay, the other for her recitation of it; and two prizes were also given to George W. Drew of Winterport—the one for superiority in Composition, and the second for best recitation of part at the exhibition.

On Wednesday evening there was a full house on the occasion of a Concert given by Shaw's Quartette Club of Portland.

The Alumni Dinner, on Thursday afternoon, brought out a goodly number, and was followed by brief speeches and music. Gen. Chamberlain was present and gave a brief address.

We learned by inquiry that the Seminary was never in a better condition than now. Its teachers are experienced and faithful, its discipline healthy, and it is expected that this school will share liberally in the centenary donations of the present year. It truly deserves it. May it be so.

A VISITOR.

ENORMOUS. During the year 1865, the State of Massachusetts paid one hundred and fifty thousand dollars for State printing.

—A Chicago despatch says that among recent conversions by the Rev. Mr. Hammond, the revivalist, is Hon. John T. Lindsay in Peoria, Senator from that District, and one of the most distinguished lawyers in Illinois. Since his conversion he has addressed large meetings at Springfield, and other points, with great power and eloquence. Hon. W. W. O'Brien, a leading democratic lawyer of Peoria, and heretofore a strong Roman Catholic, is also engaged in the same work with Mr. Lindsay.

—A despatch from Fortress Monroe announces that Messrs. Charles O'Connor and Geo. Shea of New York have been retained as counsel for Jeff. Davis. Mrs. Davis is now with her husband.

The Brunswick telegraph says a letter from the Postmaster at Empire Ranch, California, gives the intelligence of the death of Warren B. Whittemore, formerly of Lisbon, killed by the Indians, in the autumn of 1865, in Surprise Valley, in the northeastern part of the State, east of the mountains. Mr. Whittemore was farming on a Ranch, and was killed while searching with a friend for a lost companion—died in the discharge of duty.—[Lewiston Journal.

A CAUTION. We mention the following as a caution against the bad habit which many girls and young ladies are addicted to of placing pins and needles in their mouths while engaged in sewing. Miss Mattie J. Bigelow, daughter of George Bigelow, Esq., of Skowhegan, has been in poor health for about two year past, and at times raising considerable blood, and suffering severe pain in her lungs. Last fall she went West, and stopping on the way with some friends was so low in health that her life was almost despaired of. She recovered, however, and on arriving in Iowa, was very feeble for some time. At length a sore gathered on her left side, from which great difficulty was experienced, until it broke, and a needle came from it. The physician who attended her gave it as his opinion that the needle had pad passed through both her lungs, thus causing the severe pain and illhealth. She is now doing well with a prospect of regaining her health.—[Farmer.

—The President has ordered the release on parole, on his taking the oath of allegiance, of ex-Senator Wm. M. Gwinn of California. Since his arrest Gwinn has been in prison in one of the forts below New Orleans. Prominent Republican Senators signed the application for his release.

—The battlefield of Franklin, Tennessee, where Hood's men fell by hundreds and were buried, has been rented by the proprietor to freedmen, and is about to be given to the plow. Every Southern State has its representative on this field, and their friends are endeavoring to secure means to remove the bodies before the traces of the graves are trampled out.

—A cow belonging to Michael Naylor of Hardwick died recently from some mysterious cause. On examination her stomach was found to contain fifteen iron nails, fourteen pieces of stone of different sizes, five pieces of glass, a part of an earthern pitcher, besides a large quantity of smaller articles too numerous to pick out of the stomach, weighing nearly a pound.

—The New York Observer publishes a letter written more than thirty years ago by Rev. Dr. Judson on the vanity of heathen women, in which he cites as one proof of their heathenish customs that the Karon women were fanciful constructed bags, inclosing the hair, and suspended from the back part of the head. The origin of "waterfalls" is now explained.

—The anti-negro riots in Memphis have resulted in the destruction of all the churches wherein blacks tried to worship God, and all the school-houses wherein they were trying to educate their children. It isn't pretended that anybody tried or wished to destroy white men's churches or their children's school houses.

—One of the Philadelphia churches has erected in the wall of its vestibule a marble tablet, whereon is inscribed the name and date and place of death of each of its members who fell a victim to rebel bullet or to rebel barbarity during the war.

—A man named Fleming died at Lockport, Will county, Illinois, recently, aged one hundred and two years, having been born in 1764. He was never sick in his life, not even to the extent of a headache or toothache, and was never a sufferer from anything in the way of accident.

—The Roman Catholics in China claims to have three millions of their faith in that country.

—The Saturday Press, among other suggestions which will enable a person to avoid the cholera recommends: Don't get it on the brain, and, to this end, avoid reading the daily papers. Endeavor, if possible, to keep a clean conscience, and two or three clean shirts. Rise with the lark but avoid larks in the evening. Be above ground in all your dwellings, and above-board in all your dealings. Love your neighbors as yourself but don't have too many of them in the same house with you.

—A letter writer from Fredericksburg, Va., says that the young men of that section are renting farms and preparing themselves for the roughest work of agriculture.

—The subject of encouraging the cultivation of the oyster in English waters is before the House of Commons. A commission appointed for the purpose enumerates the coasts of Kent and Essex, chiefly the estuaries of the Thames, Claw Bay, in Ireland, and portions of the Scottish coast as eligible places for oyster beds.

—The Memphis Argus (rebel) complains of the securities demanded by Congress of the late Rebels, and asks, "What conditions of security have the Radicals to give of their future good behavior?" Has this Rebel organ forgotton how promptly the Radicals thrashed the traitors, crushed the rebellion, sustained the Government and restored the Union! Security! Their promise to pay, like greenbacks, are good without endorsers.

—The Denver (Col.) News says that Raphael Grandjean, who has a large plantation on the Rio Grande, New Mexico, brought a train to that city, consisting, in part of six full grown camels, which were well loaded with wool. They will be loaded with stores for a return trip. These camels have made six trips across the continent from Ft. Stanton to San Diego, Cal.

A St. Louis newspaper correspondent says the wreckers have made a good thing recently picking up wood from the Missouri river. The Union Pacific Railroad, of Nebraska, lost several thousand ties by the flood, and it is not a little remarkable that on Wednesday several dozen ties were recovered from the waters by boatmen opposite the city.

RADICALS AT THE SOUTH. The Washington correspondent of The Philadelphia Press says:

The radical party which claims to represent six millions of the people of the South, and is headed by the ablest men in that region, including such patriots as Paschal, Hamilton and Sherwood, of Texas; Hill, Judge Laughlin, Baylor and Hayes, of Ga.; Humphreys, Keffer, Bradley and Safford, of Alabama; Botts, Pierpont and Underwood, of Virginia, and Holden, of North Carolina, and, of course, the Tennessee loyalists, with many others of equal celebrity, will soon make a demonstration, in concert with the great Republican party of the free States, from which, it will be seen and clearly proved, that the only supporters of the policy of Andrew Johnson in the South, are notorious and exultant traitors and the sympathizers with copperheads. This movement will organize, as it will be inspired by the holiest principles and led by the most gifted men, and will exercise a controlling influence upon coming elections.

WISHES.

'Wish'—just four letters joined by rule together
Making a little word we often use
A word so light, the breath that stirs a feather,
Will easily pronounce it when we choose.
Our wishes! some are only careless turnings
From one thing to another fancy fraught—
But some are nourished by the keenest yearnings
That ever had their birth in human thought.

Some are so pure, that eyes of angels ever
Are suppliant as they kneel around the throne,
Laying our prayers before the great Life-giver.
Re-set with words too grand to be our own.
And some are cherished in the heart's recesses,
Like violets blooming in the deepest shade:
And scarce the nearest to our warm heart's guesses
How sweet that wish its dwelling-place has made

And some are radiant as the summer morning;
These draw their buoyancy from Hope's deep well,
And sit as on a throne, the heart adoring,
Weaving from all around their own bright spells
Some, like the unseen diamond, rough and lonely,
Hope never polishes nor beautifies,
Yet they are precious, though as longings only,
And never may be hoped to our glad eyes

Some stand alone within our restless bosoms,
Ruling their little separate share apart,
While others, gathering up both thorns and blossoms,
Erect sole empire in the longing heart.
Some make us lonely, sorrowful, and fearful,
And others discontented, proud and cold,
Some by their keenness leads us prayerful, tearful,
Back to the burning altar-fires of old.

Back to the fane our blindness had deserted,
Back to the God who ever hears and sees,
Back to the innocence of days departed—
Oh! God be thanked that wishes such as these
Remain ungranted—since, but for the sorrow
Of hungry longings, all unsatisfied,
We might forget the source from whence to borrow
The gold of patience seven times purified

Oh! well it is that stronger hands and purer
Than ours; must hold the balance of our years,
So that each wish He smiles upon is surer,
Although it seems withholden from our tears,
If not the very one we seek with weeping,
(God seeth not as man sees, fond and blind)
We know all dearest gifts are in his keeping
And as we trust Him we shall treasure find

WARNED IN A DREAM.

BY AMY RANDOLPH

The heavy crimson curtains were drawn so as to shut out the stormy darkness of the winter night—the chandeliers were lighted, and the mass of white hot coal burned noiselessly, save for the occasional clinking fall of glowing cinders into the bed of ashes below Without, the ceaseless roll of carriage wheels and the sound of steadily falling footsteps kept up a dull monody, within, it was so silent that you might almost hear the tick of Jasper Marvyn's watch, as he sat motionless at table, bending over a pile of discolored law papers.

He was tall, slight and dark, with black sunken eyes, wavy masses of jetty hair, and a complexion that was almost swarthy in its olive glow And, although he could not have numbered twenty-seven years, there was an old look about his face that is born only of self isolation and utter solitude Jasper Marvyn had never been young!

'At last'' he muttered, between his teeth, with a sort of grim exultation, 'the endless lawsuit is won at last, and I am a rich man! I wonder what Ethel will say Ah! I would give the brightest gold that ever was coined to bring one love-smile to her coral lips!'

He leaned back in his chair with a vague abstracted look, as if those dark eyes had penetrated the veil of mist that shrouds the present, and looked into the bright future!

There was a knock at the door, and he started reluctantly from his pleasant dream

'Come in!'

Now if Fred Revere had been anything else than a man in the scale of creation, he must certainly have been a sunbeam, for he came into the room just as we have seen a thread of sun gold break joyously into the solemn shadows of some vine embowed forest nook'

'Wish me joy, Jasper, man now don't look so astonished—I didn't drop from the moon, nor come up, like genii, from a cleft in the floor!'

'Revere! why, how on earth—'

'Just ran up from town for a few days on some important business! The fact is Jasper, I'm going to be married!'

'Going to be married?' repeated Jasper.

'To be sure—is there anything so wonderful in that?'

'Not at all, but—'

'And to a young lady we both knew when we were college-mates together. Guess who it is—you were always famous at deciphering riddles?'

As Frederic Revere stood there, his bright handsome face all aglow with inward happiness, Jasper Marvyn read the whole story in his sunny glance A mist swam before his eyes, and Jasper's heart seemed turned to a block of ice

'There is no necessity for me to guess, he said coldly, 'it is Ethel Wynne!'

'Right!' said Revere, gayly, 'it is blue eyed little Ethel! Now do you blame me for being almost beside myself with happiness? There is more intoxication in one of Ethel's sly glances than in all the champagne that ever throbbed through the blue veins of sun-steeped grapes' Don't you envy me, old fellow! though, to be sure, you never were at all susceptible to the shafts of the tiny god''

It was well for Revere at that moment that Jasper Marvyn's clenched hand held no dagger, so wild was the storm of suppressed passion that shook his slight frame

'We are to be married on Thursday, pursued the happily unconscious Revere, 'and you must be there Ethel wishes it, and so do I Come promise, for I am resolved to take no denial!'

'I will come, said Jasper, in a voice so cold and constrained that its echo startled even himself

And when Revere was gone, he sat in the same position, biting his lip until the blood gushed forth, to think of all the visions he had vainly cherished, and hungrily wishing that the days of midnight stabs and draughts of honeyed poison were not departed, that he might smite his successful rival from the face of the earth!

The winter sunshine sparkled cheerily among the burnished leaves of the holly bushes that skirted the grand drive up to Wynne Place, and the drifts of snow upon the lawn shone like piled up pearl Through the windows you might see the dazzling bloom of hot house flowers—festoons of white jasmine and banks of camellias arranged wherever a blossom could be disposed And the great fires roared up the gigantic chimneys, and threw dancing gleams upon the old-fashioned oaken paneling of the rooms, and everything wore a festive garb!

The wedding was over Jasper Marvyn, leaning against one of the flower wreathed windows, had witnessed the whole ceremony He saw the shy, trustful look with which she placed her hand in Frederic Revere's and he turned away with a bitter sense of hatred and despair growing at his heart.

'You are not going, Marvyn?'

He turned in his reckless onward way, to feel Revere's hand upon his shoulder

'I—I must go; do not stop me!'

'Nonsense!' said Revere, cheerily. 'Wait ten minutes, and accompany Ethel and myself in the first stage of our wedding-tour We go as far as New York, Ethel wishes it, I am sure!'

Marvyn felt the violet light of Mrs Revere's soft eyes resting upon his face like a soothing spell, as she said with the innocent familiarity of their school-days

'Do accompany us, Jasper! It would be so pleasant!'

She laid her little hand on his arm as she spoke Jasper shook it off, with a shudder, —he had seen the golden gleam of the marriage ring!

But he waited, nevertheless; he had not the courage to tear himself away from Ethel.

They were what the world calls 'a pleasant little party' in the cars—a rosy-cheeked little bridesmaid sitting next to himself, and Ethel opposite, lovelier than ever in her dove-colored bonnet and dainty travelling gear, with her pretty eyes constantly falling before Revere's proud, happy glance And all the while Jasper Marvyn was in agony!

At length he could endure it no longer, but rose and went out upon the platform of the car

CIRCULAR.

THE Act of the 23d of February last, providing pensions for certain classes of disabled soldiers and the widows and minor children of those deceased of the War of 1861, will necessarily impose upon the State Department duties somewhat analogous to those of the Pension Bureau at Washington, though of a comparatively limited character Considerable time will therefore be required by the Council, in whom is vested the supervision of this new department of business, in determining the mode of procedure and preparing the requisite blanks therefor.

Early in the ensuing May session of that Honorable body forms and regulations, with a copy of the law, will be promulgated.

Applicants under this statute, who are, or may be, in the receipt of a pension from the United States Government, will not require the assistance of agents or attorneys in preparing or presenting their claims for the State pension.
